HISTORICAL PAGEANTS HERE.

Not in New York, or Boston, but in Salem, Perhaps, or Plymouth.

Historical pageants have become so popular in England that, though the first in this country was held only two years ago, no less than a dozen are being given this summer in the many different towns of John Bull's tiny little island.
Next year there probably will be twice that number.

And that suggests the query: Why should not America have its historical pageant, too? The early settlements, the Indian fights, the Colonial wars, the Revolution, the war of 1812, not to carry it any further, afford material for vivid tableaux of fascinating interest that would present an epitome of progress and development well worth seeing.

The man who knows more about historical pageants, says the Boston Globe, than any other in the world is Louis Napoleon Parker, well known to fame as a dramatic author before he entered fresh fields of renown. It was he who first introduced the historical pageant to England at Shrewsbury, two years ago.
He has now three pageants on hand and might if he chose keep busy at them for the rest of his days.

Parker, who is best known in the United States as the co-author of "Rosemary," was born in France, educated in Germany, and has done his work in England. His mother was English, but his father was an American and his grandfather a chief justice of Massachusetts.
So, he says, he is a little bit of all influences, "but primarily a Boston man." Obviously he is a good man to consult about the prospects for successful pageants in America.

"My knowledge of American history," he says, modestly, "is limited, but I should say that towns in America with histories suited to reproduction in the form of pageants are rare. But there are a few of them that would lend themselves to such a purpose admirably.

"Plymouth, for instance, would be an ideal place for such a show. I could imagine none better in America. According to my ideas, speaking of them as historical pageants like this should be worked out. The first tableau should depict a scene in the English town from which it takes its name. Successive tableaux should represent the landing of the Pilgrim fathers, the early trials of the settlers and their struggles with the Indians, the split with the mother land and so on through the independent story of the country.

"Salem, Mass., is another town that affords abundant material for a historical pageant, the well incident, especially, being well adapted to dramatic representation.

"Boston is another city that has the necessary history, but fine city though it is, from what I have seen of it, I should say its people are too busy to bother about pageants.

"The same is true of New York. Its population is too cosmopolitan and too much absorbed in trade and commerce to enter with enthusiasm into the reproduction of a historical pageant. There are many people there who know their own city and care nothing about the history of the city."

"Regular as the Sun," is an expression as old as the race. No doubt the rising and setting of the sun is the most regular performance in the universe, unless it is the action of the liver and bowels when regulated with

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Bennington village is financially embarrassed. The funds raised for the year's expenses have been disbursed or obligations have been assumed which will take all the money, and as a means of economy the trustees have decided to retire the police officers, allowing them pay for arrests made as special officers.

At a meeting held recently in Hardwick under the auspices of the Board of Trade, a committee was appointed to sell membership cards at $5 and $25 to raise the $700 necessary to secure the erection of a hospital in that town. The Holden family express a willingness to sit the building, reserving the right to name the institution.

The amount of duties collected in the customs district of Vermont for the month of July was $70,496.44. During the corresponding month of last year $83,350.30 was collected, showing a reduction this year of $12,853.86.
The amount of goods exported from the United States to foreign countries through the district of Vermont for the month of July was $832,065.

Luther Pixley of Woodsville, N. C., was a visitor in Burlington Thursday en route to South Hero, his boyhood home. Mr. Pixley left South Hero 35 years ago, and this is his first visit home since that time. He is now a rural mail carrier and serves his route regularly.
He is quite a few years from 74 years of age. He is a veteran of the Civil War serving his enlistment in the same company with the late Col. G. C. Benedict.

Looking for Rutile in Bethel.
A mining expert was in Bethel last week looking for deposits of rutile. This mineral is quite limited in the supply and has recently become quite valuable on account of its wide use in the electrical business. Rutile is an oxide of titanium and is used for making titanium carbide. It has been found in Warren in this state. It occurs with fluorapatite, quartz, mica schist and gneiss.
It is worth about $20 a ton and can be profitably worked when the ore carries only 5 per cent. rutile. It is found as a dark red crystal and is very hard.

Barton Dentist Has Novel Appliance.
Dr. J. A. Pearson, a dentist, of Barre, has invented a novel appliance which is attached to the steam gauge on his vulcanizer, a novel and useful arrangement. When the indicator shows a certain degree of pressure a bell is rung.
This appliance is a simple one and may be attached to any steam or other gauge. Two small metal pieces are attached to the dial of the indicator at such point as desired, opposite each other, and when one end of the indicator is forced to the point of one metal piece the other end touches the opposite piece of metal which forms a circuit of electricity from storage batteries to an electric bell, thus giving the alarm. The appliance is simple but as far as known nothing of the kind is in use. A little ingenuity the appliance may be attached to any indicator, and the expense is very small.

Recent Deaths.
News has been received in Middlebury of the death of Edwin Harmon Hobbs of New York City, for many years a prominent lawyer. Mr. Hobbs in 1862 in his senior year in Middlebury college enlisted in a company of the 9th New York volunteers and served as private, corporal and sergeant, second lieutenant of his regiment. Mr. Hobbs, owing to his services, was not here to graduate with his class, but a degree was subsequently conferred upon him. Since Mr.
Hobbs has been in the practice of law in New York City several Middlebury graduates have been associated with him in his office, the most prominent of whom now is James M. Gifford, class of 1877, and at present a professor in Columbia Law school.

WILL DROP THE MATTER.
No Evidence Concerning License Commissioners Presented.

En route, Aug. 17.-Assistant Judge R. M. Lewis of Wells and F. M. Plumley of Sherburne were in the grand jury room of the Rutland county court house Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to give attention to the complaints made concerning the license commissioners of this city. State Attorney R. L. Lawrence and the license commissioners were present at the request of the judges. No one appeared to make any complaint or produce any evidence. The judges stated that the incident was closed. They said that when they received the complaint they assumed that it was made in good faith and that, therefore, as soon as they could arrange for a time when all parties interested could be present, they requested that such evidence as there was to substantiate the charges made should be presented to them. As nothing had been forthcoming, they would give the matter no further attention.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology Has Proved that Dandruff Is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no real preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp and hair, and finally baldness. With it dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly and the only destroyer of dandruff old by leading druggists. Send for a sample to The Herpicide Co., Boston, Mass.

Two sizes—60 cents and $1.00.

OLD CHURCH RE-DEDICATED.
Rockingham Has an Old Home Day Celebration, Also.

Rockingham, Aug. 17.-Not for many years have so many people gathered here as Thursday when on the slightly eminence in the center of the village the old town church was re-dedicated. For a year the church has been in the hands of the carpenters, and it is now not only the oldest church in the state but the only one that retains both the interior and exterior original appearance.

The opening of the rejuvenated church was along the lines of an old home day celebration. There were speeches by old residents, visitors, clergymen and former residents who came from far and near.
Family reunions were held under the shade trees and with music from a band program was rendered. The principal address was made by Congregationist Kittredge Haskins. Colonel Haskins' address was cut short, as he was obliged to leave early in the afternoon in order to join the Vermont Association of Boston, who passed through here on the way to Burlington.

It Was Built on Hill.
The old church is a quaint and simple white structure and dates back to the days when all citizens, irrespective of creed, were taxed by the government for the support of the gospel. It was built at the town, the questions in relation to it being voted upon in town meeting, and the expenses being paid from the town treasury. In accordance with the early custom of always setting the Lord's house upon a hill in the middle of the town, the people voted that the meeting house be set on the hill west of David Pulsipher's house about 30 or 40 rods.

One of the first settlements in the southern part of Vermont was made here in 1752. The following year land was "laid out for the use of the settled minister," who was the Rev.
Samuel Whiting. The church was not built until 1787. A Congregational society was organized in 1773 and was kept in being until 1830, sustaining a local pastor most of the time. The building has been used at different periods by various religious denominations but not regularly by any denomination for some 70 years. No services have been held in it for many years except occasional services conducted by the pastors of the different churches in Bellevue Falls during the summer months.

The village, once the business center of the town, has dwindled to a mere hamlet. The church was used for all town meetings until 1870. Since that time the town business has been transacted at Bellevue Falls.

Vandals Robbed It.
The church for years was neglected.
Private subscriptions aided by the town funds have been expended in general repairs and in restoring the interior to its original condition. The stately having been marred by casual visitors, who covered the whitewashed walls with their autographs and carried away the ornamental spindle work on the pews and gallery rails, and even the hinges on the doors of the pews as souvenirs.

The pulpit even was carried bodily away. This has been recovered and placed in its former position. The summer boards the high square pews and the gallery surrounding the audience room have all been restored to the freshness of 120 years ago.

The church records in their original manuscript form and the communion service were for a long time in the possession of W. H. T. Putnam of Springfield, a relative of David Pulsipher, who was one of the four men that united in presenting the town with the land on which the church and cemetery are located. In a fire a few years ago the service was lost, the records only being saved.

These records are of great historical value to the town and have been placed in the Rockingham public library at Bellevue Falls.
